Dear Renata Rampersaud:

This is to inform you of a product recall involving P/Ns V90000S Series 3/8 Alpha Inflator.

Reason for Recall

HRC has detected a molding defect during production of P/Ns V90000S Series 3/8 Alpha Inflator. The molding defect was excess material located inside the Inflator Body near the pierce pin that varied in size. On some inflators the defect could prevent the Inflator from firing.

Corrective/Preventative Action

There are no suspected V90000S Series 3/8 Alpha Inflators currently in HRC inventory and the remainder of the suspect lot of bodies has been scrapped by HRC.

While we do not believe this condition will occur in the future, we are nevertheless implementing several 100% tests to review for the condition in both our molding and assembly operations. A full trace of the suspect lot of molded bodies' indicated the following finished Inflator Lot Numbers were supplied to Switlik Parachute Co.:
